Magsaysay Piles Up 4 To 1 Lead In Philippines Voting

Manila, Wednesday, (AP)—Ramon Magsaysay, who crushed the Communist-led Huks in the Philippines, appeared headed for the presidency today. He had a huge lead over President Elpidio Quirino as unofficial tallies from yesterday's national election streamed into Manila.

Official tabulations were slow but radio and press counts put the former defense secretary ahead by more than 4-1. He was reported cracking some of Quirino's supposedly strongest provinces.

The latest unofficial national tabulation gave Magsaysay 500,852 votes to Quirino's 134,730.

The latest unofficial Manila count gave Magsaysay 178,848 and Quirino 44,157 from 1,492 of 1,500 precincts.

The Commission on Elections estimated the voting would run more than 85 per cent of the Philippines' 5 1/2 million registered voters.

Flanked by a military honor guard, the President will pay tribute to America's war dead in rites at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

Eisenhower will lay a wreath at the base of the white marble tomb at 11:01 a.m., following the traditional one minute of silence.

The ceremonies include addresses by Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and Arthur J. Connell of Middletown, Conn., national commander of the American Legion.

Police Drag Playboy From Brenda's Suite

New York (AP)—One of the wealthiest Romans of them all was dragged kicking and struggling early yesterday from the Park Ave. apartment of cafe society's lovely Brenda Frazier Kelly.

He was Pietro Francisco Mele, 30, a dark, balding international playboy. Friends said his bums' rush climaxed his and Brenda's "long and stormy friendship."

The fight, apparently, was over Mele's refusal of a police escort from the apartment of the dark and charming Brenda. He had taken refuge there after a street-level quarrel over his refusal to go home.

An heiress to millions, Brenda has been one of New York's most semi-eligible girls since she separated last year from her husband, John (Shipwreck) Kelly. They are now divorced.

Mele got a going over at the hands of three cops, who spilled a fair measure of his blue Italian blood on the concrete American soil of Park Ave. His eyes were blackened and his nose swollen. He was released in $1,000 bond for a hearing next Tuesday on an assault charge. Patrolman Duncan Christie complained that Mele kicked him in the groin while they were differing.

Gown To Institution
Washington (AP)—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower is sending her inaugural gown to the Smithsonian Institution after wearing it last night at the White House diplomatic reception.

Frills Boost Prices
Harrisburg, (AP)—Expensive extra services such as elaborate packaging to produce "sizzle" were cited yesterday as partially responsible for high food costs.

Favored Candidate Defeated

Los Angeles (AP)—The party-backed Republican candidate in California's 24th Congressional District took a steadily mounting lead as returns from yesterday's special election piled up.

Glenard P. Lipscomb, who was selected by the party's fact-finding committee, had 19,353 votes on returns from 111 of the district's 221 precincts. George Arnold, favored by the Democratic party organization, had 15,803.

Lipscomb took the lead at the start and held it.

John L. E. Collier, the other Republican candidate, who refused to drop out of the race despite importunities of party leaders, had 1,594 votes on the same returns, and Irving Markheim, the second Democratic candidate, who made only a token campaign had 476.

The 24th District has been consistently Republican for years with only one recent exception. Norris Poulson, who resigned to become mayor of Los Angeles, won both party nominations last June with 43,418 votes to a total of 6,096 for three Democratic candidates.

The Democrats had an advantage of 6,402 in this year's registration of voters, with 75,289 registered Republicans in the district to 81,691 Democrats.

Campaigners for both parties worked hard to turn out a heavy vote—the Republicans to offset a disadvantage in registration and a split in ranks, and the Democrats to continue the pattern of victories in Wisconsin and New Jersey congressional races.

Despite the combined efforts of nearly 700 searchers, deep water divers, civil air patrol planes and a helicopter, not a single trace of them has been found.

Police Chief Edward McCarthy said the search will continue on a big scale today. Scores of volunteers are expected to join in the hunt.

Mrs. Dora Gilmore, 42, distraught mother of the youngsters, has had little food or sleep since they disappeared.

Big 3 Parley Opens Dec. 4

Washington (AP)—Leaders of the Big Three powers have a date in Bermuda Dec. 4 to study global issues, including the West's relations with Russia.

The strategy meeting, following close on Soviet rejection of a bid to a Four Power foreign ministers' conference in Switzerland, will bring together President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain and Premier Laniel of France.

They will be accompanied by Secretary of State Dulles, Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary, and Georges Bidault, the foreign minister of France.

The White House disclosed the Big Three chiefs plan to take only small staffs with them, apparently to preserve the intimate nature of the island conference.

An agenda still has to be worked out. The White House has said only that "various matters of common concern" will be discussed at the meeting, which is expected to run through Dec. 8.

The Russians thus shied again their long-standing demand for a one-third reduction in the armed forces of the United States, Britain, France, "the People's Republic of China" (Communist China) and the Soviet Union. This proposal first was made and defeated at the 1949 Assembly in Paris and has been raised and shelved or defeated several times since.

Soviets Call For Reduction In Armaments

United Nations, N. Y., (AP)—The Soviet Union submitted yesterday a revised armaments proposal calling on the U. N. Disarmament Commission to submit plans by next March 1 for substantial reduction in the armaments of the Big Five powers and for prohibition of Great Britain and Premier Laniel of France.

They will be accompanied by Secretary of State Dulles, Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary, and Georges Bidault, the foreign minister of France.

Area People To Receive $780,606 In Christmas Club Funds

Record Sum To Be Paid This Month

The economic structure of this region is due for an inoculation next week and while only seasonal, its recipients and subsequent receivers are rubbing their hands over the announcement that $780,606 will be distributed in Christmas Clubs.

Defined as the healthiest slice of melon ever to be cut here for faithful Yule club holders, 1953 payments will hit the mail bags Nov. 20, then continue until Dec. 1 when all area banks will have posted the yearly savings checks.

A survey of Monroe County's five banking institutions, two in Bangor, one in Portland and another in Milford show payments this year to be far ahead of the savings in 1952 when these same nine banks shelled out about $721,878.

Number of subscribers also is out in front of last year, with 8,790 persons having made weekly payments for the 50 weeks in the 1953 club-year.

The five banks of Monroe County have announced payments will total $348,606 to about 4,512 club members. Last year the banks paid $294,787 and subscribers were several hundred below this year's membership.

Bangor's two banks will pay a walloping $375,000 to 3,378 members, again ahead of 1952 when payments totalled $343,000.

Checks to members of Stroudsburg Security Trust Co., Monroe County National and First Stroudsburg National will be mailed Saturday, Nov. 21, with clubs reopening the following Monday.

East Stroudsburg National Bank will mail Nov. 20 and First National, Tobbyhanna, will have the postmark Nov. 24 on their envelopes to club members.

Banks in Bangor, Portland and Milford will begin sending the lucrative certificates Nov. 20 through Nov. 30.

While the purpose of Christmas Clubs was instituted to give the populace additional funds around the holidays to buy neckties for uncle and handkerchiefs for auntie, the policy has spread to a year-around savings plan for many.

Many club holders are counting on their savings to see them through the Christmas shopping spree, while others are prepared to liquidate obligations incurred during the year, make lump payments on mortgages, pay off debts and otherwise channel the tidy sum to other avenues of indebtedness—all aimed at making Christmas brighter than past years.

School Holds Open House

Bangor — Parents went back to school in this State Beloit community yesterday.

It was all part of National Education Week observance by Bangor's public school system.

Parents attended classes with their children at Bangor High School last night with an estimated 450 adults in attendance.

Following regular "class periods" in an assembly supervised by Armon Williams, president of the Bangor branch of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, was held in the school auditorium.

Principal speakers were Trevor Williams, high school principal, and Samuel Hicks. Entertainment was provided by "The Harmonettes" and twirlers and majorettes from the high school band.

Refreshments were served in the home economics room.

Earlier in the day parents of grade school children attended similar programs at McKinley, Roosevelt and Lincoln elementary schools. Approximately 300 parents attended the programs.

No admission will be charged.

Directors and officials will attempt to answer questions from those persons attending the meeting.

Denies Added Profits

New York, (AP) — Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, told the group yesterday that declining farm prices have not resulted in higher profits for processors and distributors of food products.

YMCA Board Invites Labor Representatives, Contractors To Conference On Thursday

The directors of the Monroe County YMCA have taken steps toward endeavoring to solve the labor tieup which has halted construction work on the new main building since the latter part of September.

The board at a meeting in Wyckoff's tearoom last night adopted a resolution inviting the four contractors, representatives of union labor and other interested persons to a meeting Thursday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. at a place to be announced.

General Secretary John R. Wilson and Carlton C. Chopp, new youth secretary, have arranged for meeting places for the various youth groups until the new building is completed.

Mr. Wilson and Rev. Harold N. MacMurray, chairman of the board of the Barrett Township branch highly commended the new youth secretary for developing an expanding program. He has proved popular with young people with whom he will work both men said.

Rev. MacMurray, reporting on the Barrett branch, told the board that the architects, Rinker and Kiefer, had made changes in the plans and that new specifications would be completed by the end of the week. Bids will then be sought for the remodeling of the frame structure which will house the branch.

Merle C. Ostrom, chairman of the YMCA Week observance committee announced his assistants as Holt Wyckoff, Mrs. Clifford Helzer, C. A. Keiper and H. G. Sanborn. January 24 through 31 are the dates with special emphasis on YMCA Sunday. The committee will prepare a program.

Left front ends of both cars were damaged. Miller's an estimated $150. There were no injuries, the chief said.

In the car with Miller were his wife and son. Miller turned to talk to the boy, McConnell said, and his car veered left and collided with the car of Thomas J. McDevitt, 45, Scranton, a carpenter's helper who is boarding at 85 E. Brown St., East Stroudsburg.

Around World Program Set For Meeting

"Around The World With A Former County Agent" will be the topic of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Rahn, of Mauch Chunk at the annual meeting of the Monroe County Agricultural Extension Service at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Fire Hall at Brodheadsville.

Mr. Rahn served as county agent in Carbon County from 1917 to 1950 and is now retired. This summer he and Mrs. Rahn traveled around the world, taking four months time. They visited ten Asiatic countries.

Mr. Rahn will lead the discussion using his colored slides from the ten countries. They will also have on display a large collection of articles purchased in these countries.

During the business session presided over by President Clarence Smith, election of officers for 1954 will take place. Reports on extension work done in 1953 will be given by Miss Margaret MacLaren, Luther D. Zimmerman, and A. E. Ifitt.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments will be served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the West End Fire Co.

Joint School To Conduct Open House

Newfoundland — Annual open house sponsored by the Greene-Dreher-Sterling School and its Parent-Teachers Association, will be held Friday night, Joseph Jacobs, supervising principal, has announced.

A program of entertainment, featuring the school's 60-piece band and the high school mixed chorus, has been arranged. Jacobs said: "The program is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The PTA will serve a penny supper in the school cafeteria beginning at 5 p.m.

Teachers will be available for consultation in their respective rooms from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. Parents are invited to use this time for the discussion of any phase of school life in which they, or their children, are particularly interested.

Talented Duo-Piano Team Presents Fine Concert In Opening Of Community Series

By Leonard Randolph

Since most duo-piano teams concentrate more on flashiness and thunderous explosion than on the meaning of the music they happen to be playing, it was a pleasure to sit through the opening concert of the 1953-54 season at State Teachers College auditorium Monday night.

As the first attraction of the season, Community Concerts presented Alfred and Herbert Teitschik in a group of selections from Bach to Benjamin.

The Teitschiks displayed a rare combination of expert musicianship and the ability to select a program which offered wide variety without making a bow to what some artists consider "common taste."

The brothers opened their program with a deft, powerful twin-piano arrangement (by Isidor Phillip) of Bach's "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor." It would be difficult, indeed, to surpass the brilliance of Bach's torrentous composition and, to this reviewer at least, the "Toccata" remained the high point of the program.

In other selections, the Teitschiks proved themselves highly competent with Camille Saint-Saens' "Variations on a Theme by Beethoven;" selections from the "Second Suite" for two pianos by Sergei Rachmaninoff and Arthur Benjamin's sly, humorous "Jamaican Rumba."

The pianists were at their best, however, in the quiet, Debussy-like passages of the "Romance" from Aram Khachaturian's "Masquerade Suite" and the sprightly "Mazurka" and "Galop" from the same composition.

Here again, however, there was an absence of the "cuteness" which has so often been associated with twin-piano concertizing. The Teitschiks depended almost entirely upon their expertise as a piano team and relied upon the musical intelligence of their listeners.

It was refreshing to sit through a piano recital in which there were no "symphonic" versions of "How Much Is That Doggie In The Window" or "Dear John."

Barrett YMCA Branch Looks Ahead To Renovation Program

The Board of Managers of the Barrett Branch YMCA gathered Monday night at the Barrett Friendly Library for its initial meeting of the 1953-1954 program year.

Rev. Harold MacMurray, chairman, presided.

Kenneth Crothers and Rev. Mac Murray presented the report of the building committee in which it was announced that plans for the renovation of the new "Y" Branch are nearing completion, bids on the work have been sought and the facility should be ready for use in the early part of next year.

Carlton C. Chopp, branch executive, presented tentative plans for the coming program in the town-building campaign.

ARMISTICE DAY

Armistice Day is a time for remembering . . . the supreme sacrifices of brave men, fighting to preserve our democratic way of life. Armistice Day is a time for dedicating ourselves anew to the ideals of Americanism for which so many gave so much upon battlefields that gird the world. Armistice Day is a time for firmly resolving that these noble sacrifices shall not have been in vain. It is a time for alerting ourselves to eternal vigilance against all enemies of freedom, everywhere . . . for renewing our determination to keep America forever strong . . . forever worthy of its heroes, whose memory we honor today.

Fixit Fans Keep Homes In Repair

Big improvements are about to be made in our homes.

Industry is organizing on a vast scale to make this easier.

And all of us are in favor of it.

Here's an example of how people feel about getting it done: More than 100,000 persons paid 90 cents per head to see the recent Do It Yourself Show in Chicago. They tried their hands at hanging wallpaper, learned how to operate paint spray guns, how to use power tools, how to install bathroom tiles, insulation, flooring, roofing and all of the wares of some 120 exhibitors.

While that show was going on, an important round-table discussion of national leaders in home building, financing and architecture was taking place in New York, studying bright among the residential areas of our cities. The round-table, supported by House & Home, trade publication of the home building industry, found that bright from block to block "is spreading decay far faster than any present program can cure it."

"Americans can afford to spend much more on their homes than they are spending today," concluded Pierrepont L Prentiss, publisher of House & Home. "We are enjoying by far the highest living standards in all history on everything except housing and municipal services, where we are trying to scrimp. For housing, Americans used to spend 20 to 25 per cent of their incomes; today the average is less than 13 per cent."

And he put one problem directly up to the financiers: "Home owners need something much better than the three-year, $2,500 personal loan at 9.7 per cent interest that the FHA now offers under Title I."

In Washington, a nation-wide add-a-room campaign was launched by the Gypsum Association, inviting other producers of building materials to join in helping families to enlarge inadequate houses.

"There are seven million owners of one-family homes who are now faced with the necessity of expanding their living quarters," observed Lloyd H. Yeager, general manager of the Gypsum Association. Citing surveys which show the average homeowner spends $1,000 for adding an extra room, Yeager estimated the potential of this market at seven billion dollars.

"Much of this do-it-yourself activity," he says, "is actually proving of benefit to craftsmen in the building trades, since a large proportion of home handymen find they must call in professionals for some part of their remodeling projects. And if it weren't for the current do-it-yourself trend, many of these projects would never have been undertaken in the first place."

My, how we have changed in 15 years! Before the war we were pretty well satisfied with our homes. The National Lumber Manufacturers Association has dusted off an old survey conducted in 1938 by the Architectural Forum. In those days 48.2 per cent of the householders invited to complain about their houses had no objections whatever.

Only 2.7 per cent of the 1938 homeowners felt that their homes were not modern.

Today a survey by Home Modernizing magazine shows 9 out of 10 home owners want their kitchens remodeled and newly equipped. One-third want dishwashers. More than a third want garbage disposal units. Almost a third want food freezers.

Gregory S. Coleman, publisher of "Fixit" books, wanted to determine the market for his do-it-yourself literature. So he made a survey. He found:

No less than 17 out of every 20 homeowners make most of their own repairs. Half of those who pay rent in one and two-family houses do likewise—even tenants in apartment buildings (one out of every 10) don't wait on the land-

Study Upkeep Costs Before Buying House

Before buying a house it is wise not only to determine what is wanted in space and arrangement of rooms and to ascertain what outlay the purchaser can afford but to consider the cost of maintenance of the property once it is acquired.

Many purchasers, who have accumulated substantial sums of money through savings out of earnings, who have inherited money or come by cash from life insurance, can afford to purchase rather costly homes but may afterward lack sufficient income to properly maintain and service their properties.

More and more advises suggest that prospective purchasers look beyond the actual first cost of a house. Prospective buyers should bear in mind that it costs a lot more to paint a frame house than one of stone or masonry; that deterioration of exterior sidings of wood may require heavy outlays for repairs.

A house that is thoroughly weather-stripped, equipped with storm sash and doors and well insulated may cost more at the outset than a house of comparable size lacking such features, but the annual cost of heating it will be much lower than the cost of heating a house not so equipped.

A slate, tile or asbestos shingle roof will cost less per year to maintain than a composition shingle roof, all other factors being equal. Also, copper rain spouts and gutters should last a lifetime, whereas corrosion may ruin galvanized gutters and spouts within a few years.

Asphalt, Asbestos Leak-Proof Roof

If the seller is vague about the existence of facilities, it is advisable to inquire at the municipal building office. Otherwise, the buyer may encounter considerable unexpected expense.

This is especially important in the case of sewers. Even in many established neighborhoods, sewage is still handled through cesspools. Where no sewers exist, property owners often are required to have them installed at their own expense. This is also true of paving and curbs.

Inquiry should be made as to whether the property is within a trunk sewer or other public-improvement district where extensions are planned. If it is, the buyer can be virtually certain that he will eventually be assessed several hundred dollars for improvements made many blocks from his home.

Before closing any real estate transaction, the buyer should ascertain whether the street has been deeded to the municipality. If it has not, most municipalities refuse to install sewers, paving, curbs and trees.

Patching Plaster

A patch in a rough plastered surface can be textured to match the original plaster by going over the wet patch with a sponge. When patching a sand-finished surface, mix a little fine sand in with the patching plaster.

Caulk Joints

Joints between concrete porch floors and wood siding on the house should be packed with caulking compound. This will prevent moisture getting at the wood.

Prevents Stains

Copper and bronze, used structurally on exterior surfaces, should be varnished to prevent ugly stains from forming on surrounding paint. The metal surface should first be wiped clean with a turpentine rag. One coat of spar varnish will serve your purpose.

Keeps Dust Out

Dust and dirt can be prevented from getting in around steel casement windows by cementing some felt weather-stripping to the edges of the window. The felt will also keep out moisture if the window doesn't close tight.

Acid Removes Blotches On Brick Wall

Efflorescence — alkaline salts working to the surface — causes white, crusty blotches occurring sometimes on brick and concrete walls.

These blotches can be removed with a wire brush and washing with a solution of one part muriatic acid in 10 parts of water. Rinse with clear water two minutes after application of the solution to avoid pitting the surface.

Care must be taken to protect your eyes when using this strong acid. Wear rubber gloves, too, and old clothing.

Crayon Marks Easily Erased

A small boy and a red crayon can redecorate a room in short order, as many mothers have discovered. The result often is startling murals on wallpaper or vivid designs on upholstery fabrics.

It is better to absorb such marks than to try to wash or sponge them away, says Margaret Furry, textile chemist of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Water or liquid cleaners may drive the stain deeper or spread it.

To remove wax crayon marks from wallpaper or furniture coverings, Miss Furry advises gentle scraping first with the blunt edge of a knife to lift off any wax on the surface, then applying a paste of cornstarch mixed with carbon tetrachloride or other cleaning fluid that dissolves grease. Let the paste dry on, then brush off. Repeat until the paste takes up no more color.

Some crayons are made of material that responds to a soft eraser or to washing. Try erasing first. Then, if it will come, washable, try sponging off washable crayon.

The speaker of the afternoon will be Mrs. Robert G. Barchley of Milford.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

I've never actually experienced a stampede of cattle, but I imagine you get the same general feeling on a Tuesday night in the Stroudsburgs.

There's a distant thunder of hoofs in the afternoon as the vanguard of the meetings go by, but by 9:30 the galloping herd is in full flight and the best you can do is to jerk the mild little birthday parties out of the way and let the irresistible tide sweep over you and the social page, and out into the margins.

Tuesday nights are really the most frantic of all. Though don't think that just because you pick Thursday you'll have a clear field. The Grace Lutheran Guild did that last week, and then postponed their sauerkraut supper to this week because of the oyster supper at Marshalls Creek.

So what do they run into this Thursday night? The Eastern Star sauerkraut supper at the Methodist Church; the Swiftwater Methodist turkey supper, that's all; unless you want to count the sausage and pancake suppers at Zion Reformed tonight.

The Junior Woman's Club and the Portland Woman's Club both picked the same nights for their big productions of the year. Well, we'll either ride with the best of them or get trampled flat.

DeRenzi Name Son

Bushkill — Mr. and Mrs. Albert DeRenzi have named their son Samuel Tura DeRenzi. Samuel was named in honor of his maternal great grandfather and was born on Tuesday October 27, at the Monroe County General Hospital and weighed 8 pounds, one-half ounce.

Mrs. DeRenzi is the former Helen Turn.

Thanksgiving Theme Of Music Club

The Music Study Club last night had a program of Thanksgiving with Dr. Lee Donald Warren, professor of social studies and Spanish at State Teachers College who spoke on "What's Right with the World". Comparing the good and evil forces in the world, he counted the home, government, church and education as bulwarks in an evil age, and urged the women to count their blessings.

"The foundation of God stands sure, and if we trust in Him our faith will carry through," he said.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Charles Allen and Mrs. Walter Stevens, co-chairmen. Mrs. Harry Miller presented the hymn-of-the-month, "We Plough the Fields and Scatter" and gave its history.

A trio composed of Mrs. Vernon Imbt, Miss Helen Smith and Mrs. Lorraine Toner sang three songs, "The Prayer Perfect" by Speaks; "Prayer" by Guion and "A Prayer" from "Alcestis" by Suk.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses with Mrs. Henry Baumann as chairman, and including Mrs. Herbert Yutz and Miss Susan Warner.

Choral rehearsal was held after the social hour.

Grace Guild Plans Supper, Auction Sale

The Woman's Guild of the Grace Lutheran Church met last night with more than 50 members present. Final plans were made for the sauerkraut supper to be served Thursday night. They also planned for the church bazaar to be held November 19 and 20.

An auction sale will be held the last night of the bazaar, and members will be soliciting articles especially for the sale which is to be a main feature of the bazaar.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party to be held on Tuesday, December 8. At that time 50 cent gifts will be exchanged, and will entertain the children and grandchildren of members. The Christmas committee includes Mrs. Eva Schwartze, chairman; Mrs. Clara Miller, Mrs. Harold Cramer, Mrs. Verla Nittel, Mrs. Dorothy Repsher, Mrs. LeRoy Morris, Mrs. Fred Eyer, and Mrs. Ed Van Why.

Hostesses for last night's meeting were Mrs. Nettie Smith, Mrs. Howard Lloyd, Mrs. Dewey Jacoby, and Mrs. Harry Nace.

Chairmen Named For Fire Co. Aux.

Marshalls Creek — Mrs. Richard MacDonough, presiding last night for the first time as president of the Marshalls Creek Fire Company Auxiliary, announced the names of the chairmen of the committees for the year.

Mrs. Ray Mosier is chairman of the kitchen committee; Mrs. Charles White, emergency; Mrs. Arch Moyer, hostesses; Mrs. Earl Primrose, telephone tree; Mrs. Harvey Huffman, membership; Mrs. Frank Dreisbach, publicity.

It was announced that the firemen had purchased a projector which is also available for the use of the auxiliary. Mrs. Elwood Doll was named chairman of decorations for the Christmas party.

A donation of $75 to the Christmas party at Scotland School, and another of $50 to the VFW Post when the auxiliary was organized, at their meeting on Monday night.

Mr. Mount, now Service Officer, spoke to the members of the auxiliary, outlining the service program of the veterans organization. After he had finished, all the past presidents of the auxiliary presented him with a Service Officer's hat in appreciation for his services to the auxiliary.

Mrs. Celia Siproth presided at the auxiliary meeting when Commander John Darr of the post also spoke.

Applications of two new members were accepted and Mrs. Georgia Albertson, district president, reported on the County Council meeting.

A donation of $75 to the Christmas party at Scotland School, and another of $50 to the VFW Post when the auxiliary was organized, at their meeting on Monday night.

All members were asked to attend the Armistice program to be held this morning at 10 a.m. in either the East Stroudsburg Junior High or Stroudsburg High. An Armistice Dance will be held tonight at the VFW.

Attendance awards were won by Clara Catlin and Frances Ransberger and a benefit party was announced for Wednesday, November 18.

Life of Riley
By JIM RILEY

Stroudsburg took its next to last step toward a Lehigh Valley League football crown on Monday night, as the Mountaineers ran over a Slatington team that was plenty good in its own right, 27-6. The win was number seven of the campaign for the charges of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis and fifth against league opposition. Stroudsburg's only non-victory in the present campaign was a 7-7 deadlock with Whitehall in the rain and mud at Gordon Giffels Field last month. Little has to be said about Saturday's contest at Northampton—it's for all the marbles.

There are many reasons why Stroudsburg was able to turn the tables on Slatington, but this scribe is of the opinion that the condition of the playing surface at Giffels Field on Monday was more important to the cause than most people realize. The job of removing the snow and putting the W. Main St. ball yard into playing condition was so well done that the field was in remarkable shape. Although the top of the field was wet and slightly muddy, the footing was remarkably good. I saw backs fall a couple of times, but not once did I see a back hit the turf because of the slippery footing.

The solid footing enabled both teams to run, or at least attempt to run, the ends, which turned out to be a decided advantage for the Mountaineers. Regardless of what area fans think of Maurice Schleicher, the big Slatington junior can still plow into forward walls. The big boy would have had trouble with Stroudsburg's line, I agree entirely, but if the footing was such that power plays were the only means of gaining ground, Slatington would have had the edge. Stroudsburg has a good power runner in Leon Marable, but the Mountaineers move best on the seat-back antics of Benny Miller, Karl Weingartner and Don Garavent.

Bruised Ribs

Don Garavent, co-captain of the Mountaineers, suffered bruised ribs in Monday's clash with Slatington and is also hampered by a heavy cold at the present time. X-rays were taken yesterday to make certain that the hard running fullback hadn't suffered fractured ribs. It was at first believed that Garavent had at least a broken rib.

The other injury came in the form of a damaged back to Dave Nevil, junior end who turned in a fine offensive blocking game against Slatington on Monday.

None of the trio took part in yesterday's light workout, but it is hoped that each will be ready to assume his usual position against Northampton Saturday, when the Lehigh Valley League championship will be at stake.

Leon Marable, sophomore right halfback, will be ready for action on Saturday, but came up with a stiff leg and a cleat cut of the nose in the Slatington encounter.

In addition to the three above mentioned injuries, the Mountaineers suffered the usual amount of bumps and bruises, none of which is expected to prove serious. Several players are also fighting heavy colds at the present time.

The Mountaineers plan to begin today's drill session at approximately 11:30 a.m., or immediately after classes are dismissed for the Armistice Day holiday.

Rosen Praises Baseball

Washington (AP) — Al Rosen, the Cleveland Indians' star third baseman, said yesterday that color and religion don't mean a thing in baseball. The only question baseball asks, Rosen said, is "Can you produce?"

Example

He noted that the Cleveland roster includes Catholics, Protestants and Jews as well as Negroes, Cubans and Mexicans.

The Mountaineers racked up a victory over Slatington Monday, but it proved quite costly. Three first string men were forced to the sidelines yesterday and there is some doubt about their availability for Saturday, although no bones are broken. Karl Weingartner triple-threat quarterback, suffered a damaged shoulder muscle. Captain Don Garavent, hard running fullback came up with a damaged rib and elbow and a severe cold, while Dave Nevil, hard blocking right end, is currently hampered by a bad back. Further details on the injuries may be found in another story on this page.

Celler Takes Another Verbal Swing At Baseball

London (AP) — Emanuel Celler—the New York Democratic congressman who probed baseball in 1950—demanded yesterday that baseball "clean house" or face repressive legislation.

Celler laid down a four-point program for the major leagues to follow after hearing of the U.S. Supreme Court decision declaring professional baseball exempt from federal anti-trust laws because it is a sport.

Celler was in London en route to India to study refugee problems.

He said: "First, the reserve clause must be softened. Binding a player for his entire baseball life, even against his will, is peonage . . ."

"No contract should be for more than five years without mutual consent."

The New Yorker criticized the geography of the major leagues and called it "inbalance." The present city setup, Celler said, "must be remedied. This imbalance has existed for over 50 years with slight changes—such as the Boston Braves to Milwaukee and the St. Louis Browns to Baltimore . . ."

The fourth point Celler brought out involved television and broadcasts of big league games in minor league territory.

"Broadcasting and televising major leagues must be so restricted as to protect the interests of minor league baseball," he said. "Presently minor leagues are in the doldrums. Attendance in smaller city ball parks falls off while big league games are on TV screens."

"The majors need the minors as breeding and feeding grounds for players. Without the minors, the big leagues would cease to exist."

Baseball's high commissioner, he said, "must represent not only owners, but players and public. All three must have a hand in his selection and maintenance in office . . ."

Large Basketball Turnout At East Stroudsburg High

East Stroudsburg High School has rounded out its first week of basketball practice and is currently busy at work preparing for its initial encounter of the 1953-1954 court campaign.

Coach Dick Forster announced last night that he has been working with 27 candidates during the first week of cage drills, but expects at least 20 more boys to report at the end of the football season.

Forster will be at the helm of the basketball Cavaliers for the third straight season.

The Cavaliers currently are learning fundamentals and taking part in conditioning exercises.

Drills will be held nightly until the end of the current football season.

Sophomore Caroline, already the greatest rushed in the history of the Big Ten, has sped 1,075 yards from scrimmage in seven games—360 yards ahead of Ohio State's Bobby Watkins and Arizona's Ken Cardella, both with 715 yards.

Bob Garrett of Stanford and Zeke Bratkowski are the passers who are tied with 92 completions each according to official NCAAs Statistics released yesterday. Both have played eight games to date but Georgia's Brat is the best bet to connect on the most tosses because he has three more yards than Garrett.

Recruiters Stationed Here Daily

Army recruiting officers will launch a two-week daily schedule here tomorrow in an attempt to decide if the Stroudsburg center holds enough possibilities for a full-time office.

Sgt. Eugene Sampson and Hubert McGee, assigned here this summer by the Scranton headquarters, will man the station in Stroudsburg Postoffice building from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mondays through Fridays until Nov. 25. If the program proves successful, they will keep the local headquarters open on a permanent, daily basis.

Enlistments in the Army, Air Force, WACS and WAFFS are being accepted here, it was announced.

A FEATURE at the Junior Woman's Club Follies of '53 will be smiling Maridore Coleman of East Stroudsburg, here trying out her costume at a rehearsal. The Follies will play Thursday and Friday nights at Stroudsburg High School auditorium, for benefit of the YMCA building fund. Miss Coleman will sing and dance.

Follies Cast Schedules Dress Rehearsal Tonight

Dress rehearsal for the "Follies of '53"—an entertainment sponsored by the Junior Women's Club—will be held tonight in Stroudsburg High School auditorium.

Under their director, Wendell Wold, cast members will go through the final stages of their preparation for "Follies" production Thursday and Friday nights in the high school auditorium.

Proceeds from the extravaganza will go toward the Junior Women's Club contribution to the local YMCA.

Tickets are available from all club members and will be on sale at the auditorium on performance nights. Stores selling the tickets are Flagler's Drug Store and Lee's Soda Shop in Stroudsburg and Krege's Drug Store in East Stroudsburg.

Sparkling the show will be numerous musical numbers, some performed as "solo" spots, others enlisting the aid of chorus lines—all featuring homegrown talent.

In addition to the music, a series of comedy "skits" will be presented. Among these are "Silly Questions," featuring Shirley Cummings and Ted Hoffman; a French skit called "Ooo-lala" starring John Meunier, Betty Gaunt Moran, Allan Kelper and Carolyn Lapinsky.

Talkative women (club members excluded, spokesmen say) will get their share of the limelight in a satirical skit titled, "Yakity-Yak" featuring the gregarious talents of Audrey Wilkins and Betty Jane Green.

Parker and Nick Nicholson will appear in an informative sketch called "Eh, What?" while John Watt and Diana Shanley give their impressions of hectic modern life in a satirical satire "You Think You're Psycho!"

Also on the program is a described as a "thriller" by club publicists. It's called "Drop That Cat!" and has a cast including John Green, Joseph McCluskey and Phyllis Ellswig.

Food Shortages Seen In Future

Cambridge, Mass. (AP)—A "serious shortage" of meat and milk may develop throughout the world within the next quarter of a century unless man does something to increase food production to cope with an ever-increasing population.

That was the word last night from Dr. George Garrison of Massachusetts Institute of Technology who said scientists must devise more efficient methods of capturing the energy of the sun as an aid to food production.

He told the autumn meeting of the National Academy of Sciences that present agricultural techniques and conventional types of food plants can take advantage of only a fraction of the sunlight available for food production and that, moreover, there is a limit to the number of farmable acres available in the world.

Tickets are available from all club members and will be on sale at the auditorium on performance nights. Stores selling the tickets are Flagler's Drug Store and Lee's Soda Shop in Stroudsburg and Krege's Drug Store in East Stroudsburg.

Contractors, Union Officials Confer With YMCA Board On Work Stoppage

A two-hour conference to resolve the seven-week construction holdup of the new $520,000 Monroe County YMCA see-sawed from union officials to contractors yesterday, concluding with agreements to have international representatives come here as soon as possible so work can resume.

In a session which opened and closed with prayer, which in essence asked for an early settlement to the current work stoppage, some 25 persons assembled at the Indian Queen Hotel to hear both labor and unions heads put their cards on the table. And the resultant agreement still hangs fire until further talks occur and possibly an arbitration board can be named.

Called by the board of directors of the new YMCA building and its building committee, the emphasis was on expediting settlement of differences between the local electrical union and employees of Matt Kime, electrician, and plumbing and heating union and workers of Hoffman L. Cleveland.

Dr. Joseph Noonan, chairman of the YMCA building committee, explained the purpose of the session, then turned the meeting over to D. W. Frankenfield, YMCA board president. Following prayer by John Wilson, the Y's general secretary, Arlington Williams, board member was named as moderator.

Frankenfield explained the Y board made attempts to raise money for the new structure; awarded contractors bids in good faith and asked "yesterday for an early settlement for Monroe County residents who, he said, are anxious to see the building erected. He said the holdup has meant the loss of seven good weeks of working weather.

Dr. Noonan also called for an early settlement, stating the proposed building is a direct asset to the boys and girls of the county and asked both sides to reconcile any differences in a harmonious manner.

Hanford Cleveland, East Stroudsburg, pluming and heating contractor, was the first to state his position. He said he was willing to pay union wages, have the men work the regular union stipulated hours and offered to open his shop to a union election. Then Cleveland added "But my men do not seem to care to join the union."

Kime, the electrical contractor on the YMCA building, said he took the same position as Cleveland, then added, "We don't want a union shop. But if my men want to join I'll have to go out of business because I can't afford to pay the $3.25 an hour rate."

Atom Scientist Urges Greater Military Aims

Chicago, Oct. 29.—An atomic scientist asserted yesterday that the United States should double its military effort now or risk the program of "simple annihilation."

He believes Soviet leaders have in store for any defeated America.

Ralph Paul, business agent for the Stroudsburg local, Plumbing and Heating Union, pointed out how he tried repeatedly to contact an appointed worker in Cleveland's shop but had little luck because the man would set no meeting date.

Paul explained that Cleveland's men were in the union about two years ago and that following issuance of a new contract, some violated an agreement and the International assessed them $200 each. At that time, he said, they dropped from the union.

The business agent added union regulations state that a man who lets his card "run out" must pay a year's dues to reinstate. He added that arrangements he made to bring these men into the union again "created dissension in our own union when I asked them to reduce the $200 fine." Paul said his headquarters went along on the restraining force so far.

Shooting Fray Over Property Dispute Leads To Four Deaths

Lewisberry, Pa., Oct. 29.—A two-year dispute over the sale of a 68-acre farm which ended yesterday with a court decision resulted in the fatal shooting several hours later of four persons.

Harry G. Snavely, about 47; his wife, Helen R., about 46, and Harry's brother, Mearl Snavely, 51, were killed in the Snavely car by shotgun blasts near the farmhouse, two miles from this rural York County community in Central Pennsylvania.

John L. Eichelberger, 52, who sold the farm to the Snavelys in July, 1951 and lived 400 yards down the road since then, died in a Harrisburg hospital several hours later with a gunshot wound of the chest.

First Sgt. W. K. Duhrkoff of the Harrisburg state police barracks said Eichelberger, a steel worker, evidently killed the Snavelys and then tried to end his own life.

A York County court had ended the two-year dispute over the sale of the farm at noon after a two-day trial by awarding the Snavelys $316 in damages.

Gladys Eichelberger, daughter of the dead man, said her father told her while waiting for an ambulance that "the Snavelys got him mad by kidding and razzing and boozing him about losing the case and that he had shot himself."

Duhrkoff said that Eichelberger had evidently followed the Snavelys to their home, had shot them and then return to his new home. Then Eichelberger flagged down a truck passing his house driven by Dale E. Warehime, Dillsburg, and asked Warehime to "go in my house and call the state police. I just had an argument and went over and shot three of them."

Warehime drove to a nearby motel from where the police were called. Duhrkoff said Eichelberger apparently shot himself while standing in the driveway of his home when Warehime drove off.

Writing in the bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, he said:

"Our present military budget, when viewed in the light of the issues at stake and the magnitude of the Soviet armament program, is about half its proper value. If our actions are to lie within the bounds of reason, our military budget at this time should be limited only by the ingenuity and productive capacity available to do the job required."

Dr. Seitz said the goal of Russian leaders is to establish Soviet control "over the entire planet" and that fear of reprisal from the United States has been the only restraining force so far.

Israel Asks Meeting To Solve Dispute

United Nations, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Israeli Delegate Abba Eban proposed yesterday an immediate meeting of political and military representatives of Israel and Jordan with Palestine truce officials here in an attempt to prevent further border raids.

He expressed to the Security Council his government's "profound and unreserved regret" for the loss of "innocent" lives at Kibya, Jordan, in an early-morning raid on Oct. 14 in which 53 Arabs died.

Nevertheless, it was reported last night the United States, Britain and France will put before the Security Council next week a resolution censuring Israel for the Kibya raid.

Diplomats familiar with the policy of the three Western powers said the resolution will also propose building up the truce supervision machinery by adding more military observers, and require a report from the truce supervisor within three months.

McCarthy Thinks G.E. Plant Has Plenty Of Reds

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said testimony before his Senate investigations subcommittee yesterday leads him to believe there is a "concentration of Communists" in the General Electric's huge Schenectady plant.

The senator said a witness, whom he declined to name, had told him "there are no secrets from the Communists at GE."

That included McCarthy said, the supersecret Knolls atomic power laboratory operated by the company for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Car Strikes 58-Year-Old Harry Willman

Bangor — Harry Willman, about 58, was killed instantly when struck by a car on N. Main St. here last night.

Police said it was the first traffic fatality in the borough in almost 11 years.

Listed as the driver was Samuel Carrasco, 48, Roseto, who was driving north, police said. Willman was walking north on the driver's side of the road about 8:20 p.m., police said.

Willman was struck by the right front portion of the car, police said, and was thrown to the ground.

Walking about 25 feet ahead of the victim was Fred P. Clapp, 673 N. Main St., police said. Clapp reported he heard the thud when Willman was struck, turned and saw the man on the ground.

Police said Carrasco stopped his car instantly. Dr. Floyd Hess was called to the scene and pronounced Willman dead. The man's skull was fractured. Harold Hough, deputy coroner, was called, and the body removed to his funeral home here.

Police said Willman was unemployed but had been a watchman and boiler tender at Bangor Mills on Pennsylvania Ave. here for some time.

Survivors include a brother, Samuel, of North Bangor, and sister, Mrs. Sarah Miller, N. Main St., Bangor. Willman was a bachelor; he lived alone.

The investigation by Officer Walter Heard of the borough police force will continue today, and there will be further investigation by the office of Assistant District Attorney Clifton B. Palmer.

Carrasco said Willman stepped in front of his car.

Carrasco was released without bail by Justice of the Peace Fred McFall here after police consulted with Palmer.

Judges Uphold State's Truck Weight Law

Pittsburgh, Oct. 29.—Three federal judges upheld yesterday the right of state police to enforce truck weight limits on highways.

The judges dismissed a suit filed April 30, 1952, by Lattavio Brothers, Inc., of Canton, Ohio.

The company claimed the application of the maximum weight laws of the Pennsylvania Motor Vehicle Code to its truck imposed an unreasonable burden on interstate commerce because the vehicles were registered in and complied with Ohio weight laws.

The activity of the joint committee will constitute one aspect of the efforts of both countries in promoting satisfactory trade relations on a multilateral basis throughout the free world."

It was not longer open to dispute that a state in the exercise of its police power and in the absence of congressional action may impose reasonable restrictions upon the weight and size of vehicles which travel over its highways.

Services Mark Armistice Day

Newfoundland — Students of the Greene-Dreher-Sterling School and members of the local American Legion post and its Auxiliary observed Armistice Day here Wednesday with services in the high school auditorium.

The speaker was Rev. Francis Merkel, pastor of the Rock Lake Catholic Church. A former Army chaplain, Rev. Merkel urged that Americans show their appreciation of the sacrifices made by their war dead by taking an active and unceasing interest in "our democratic form of government."

Harry J. Bestrand, retiring commander of Phillips-Zacharias-Philips Post No. 859, American Legion, was in charge of the program and spoke briefly. Other speakers were Mrs. Loftus Smit Jr., president of the Auxiliary, and Rev. Frederick Fulmer, pastor of the Newfoundland Moravian church.

Christmas Clubs To Give Big Lift To Holiday Shopping

By James B. Gaffney

Predictions by some of the nation's top economists that folding money will flow free and easy during the rapidly approaching pre-Christmas shopping period have area merchants on their toes already—with 35 days left to exhibit their merchandise.

Evidence that customers either are gaining more relatives each year; their pocketbooks are lighter prior to the Yule shopping spree or that they're just becoming more thrifty, is found in this week's declaration... by banks that $780,606 has been tucked away in Christmas Clubs.

The figure represents the top dollar-savings in clubs. Much of the loot will go toward Christmas presents, but others have earmarked their savings to liquidate obligations incurred during the year. Whatever the club holders' intent, it is certain a large percentage of savings will shuffle across store counters in the next few weeks.

And from the moth balls this week came the bright red and green decorations, the red candlesticks and silver bells. Store windows in the Stroudsburg already have taken on the new look as merchants get set for the seasonal rush.

Why the big hurry? With only 35 days left, Christmas packages have to go in a hurry. The day after Dec. 25 it's practically impossible to sell wrapping paper designed with holly and depicting Santa sliding down the chimney. It's equally impossible for merchants to collect for jelly beans the day after Easter.

But with all the hub-bub over Christmas another holiday has slipped into near-obscenity—Thanksgiving Day. Poultry dealers in the region report turkeys are losing their heads over their day. In recent years Thanksgiving Day has become more of a field day for the gourmets.

But the date was not proclaimed merely for overstressing the already abused turkey. Those who might be described as sentimentalists still are cognizant the day of Thanksgiving is self-explanatory and a few prayers should come

We're Saved...Maybe!

"As the veins of the human body carry man's life blood, so the arteries of America's state highways carry the commercial life blood of our industries. State highway officials must, in their planning for community road service, consider these factors in their projects for highway operations."

(Excerpt from an address by Gov. John S. Fine Tuesday before the national convention of The American Association of State Highway Officials at Pittsburgh.)

We hope officials of the Pennsylvania State Highway Department take Gov. Fine's diagnosis to heart an act on it, especially in the case of the Stroudsburg's.

We've suspected for a long time that the Stroudsburgs and vicinity have been suffering from a bad case of hardening of the highway arteries, but we've been unable to convince the highway department.

If anything comes of the Governor's diagnosis in our case, we're for giving him the Degree of Doctor of Highways with all the honors and emblems attached thereto.

They Figure Best

Sen. Smathers of Florida tells us that high school students working out sample income tax returns in their classrooms make only 2 per cent. errors as against the average adult error of around 24 per cent.

From this the good senator from the sunny climes deduces that parents should ask their sons or daughters to make out their returns next year.

We are in favor of the younger generation learning all about the income tax and if they are to be any help to the old folks it would seem wise for them to be learned in the tax laws.

But we would add another recommendation: As they learn to figure the tax, how about learning how to earn so as to pay it?

Only The Beginning

If the Old Farmer's Almanac is to be believed, and who shall say that it has ever been anything but the epitome of veracity, what we had last weekend in the way of weather was only the beginning.

In fact, the 162-year-old manual so religiously followed by many a country and city dweller gives us the word that before November has gone the way of all months we shall enjoy, if that is the word, such cold and snow as one would not believe possible.

December is to be raw, and the first three months of the New Year will have more of the same, only worse. But the almanac saves the punch line for April, when it predicts that in the few weeks just before advent of spring there will be a storm with snow or rain or both to fall all over the United States.

Perhaps we should be philosophically restrained in our approach to the winter weather after last year's mildness, but who ever heard of the average citizen combining philosophy and weather in one conversation?

If the Old Farmer's Almanac is correct in its approach to what we will be getting before the flowers return with the birds next spring, we might as well gird ourselves in the conventional long woolies, put more coal in the bin, and try to accept it with as good grace as we can muster.

Of course, we realize that you would never be influenced by what the Old Farmer's Almanac has planned for your weather future, but just in case you are such a skeptic, may we call your attention to the fact that the almanac called the turn on the weekend snow.

The Once Over

Delinquent On The Stand

The Senate Committee inquiry into juvenile delinquency opens shortly. No small fry will be exposed to the quiz, but we can imagine a badly muddled youngster answering important questions illuminatingly.

For Example: Q.—Do you consider yourself a juvenile delinquent? A.—If I'm not one it's due to good luck.

Q.—What is your attitude toward crime? A.—From what I see, hear and read it seems to be a popular American institution.

Q.—Does the idea of lawlessness disturb you?

A.—How can it disturb me when it is dished out on a non-stop basis in top fields of entertainment?

Q.—Isn't crime revolting to you, my lad?

A.—It was until I found out that the sponsors of all crime blueprints were promoted or produced by grownups who should know more about right and wrong than I do.

Q.—Don't our top citizens deplore juvenile delinquency?

A.—Yeah, but so many of 'em write, buy, produce, promote and permit telecasts of "Pathway to Alcatraz," "The Crime of the Week," and "The All-American Hoodlum Review" that I know they must be kiddin'.

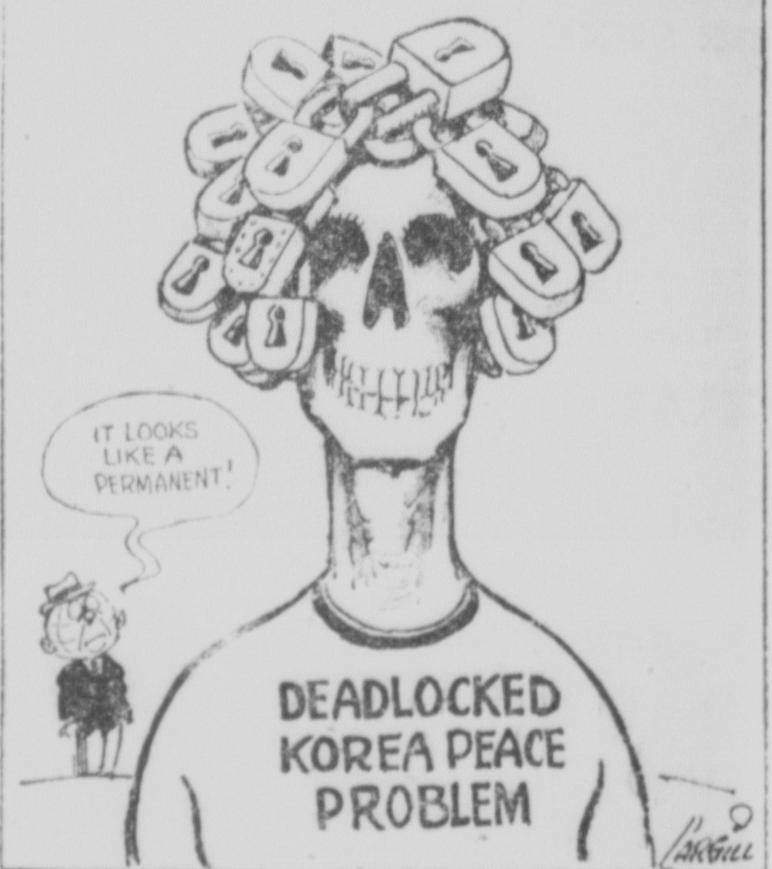

Q.—What impression do you get from TV, radio and movie crime stories?

A.—I get the idea punks, muggers, arsonists, hoodlums and killers are all right if the jingle is tuneful.

Q.—Don't you know that it is wrong to be a thug or a racketeer?

A.—I'd never suspect it from those family movie-house posters with the lurid pictures and the big captions: "HE SLEW FOR LOVE," "SEE THE BATTLE FOR HONOR IN THE SEWERS OF PARIS," "SHE KILLED TO MAKE ROMANCE MORE BEAUTIFUL" and "DON'T MISS THIS GRIPPING DRAMA OF SEX, CRIME, GREED AND VIOLENCE BECAUSE OF A WOMAN."

MODERN MEDUSA, AND HER LOCKS

Robert S. Allen Reports

U.S. Confronted With A Prolonged Korea Deadlock

Washington — The State Department and Pentagon have decided the U.S. is confronted with another protracted deadlock in Korea.

They have already started consulting the other 14 UN allies that fought there on what should be done to counter the Reds' obstructionism in refusing to fix a time and place for the political conference, which was to have convened October 27.

Behind these preparatory discussions are two compelling factors:

- Special Ambassador Arthur Dean's private belief that Moscow is deliberately blocking the peace parley, and there is no telling when this undercover thwarting will cease.
- A secret demand by President Syngman Rhee that the U.S. begin talks with him "on the seriousness of the political and military stalemate and its threat to the security of South Korea." What the aged ROK ruler means by that is to set the stage for resuming the shooting war.

The State Department's conversations with the 14 UN allies have disclosed that the following basic policies are largely determined in their positions:

The U. S. is emphatically opposed to more fighting in Korea, unless forced to do so by a new Red attack.

A majority of the UN allies, headed by Britain, France and Australia, are strongly insisting that nothing be done to prevent an eventual understanding with the Reds on holding the overdue political conference. These allies are urging that the door be kept open for that purpose several more months, if necessary.

In an effort to put an end to the Kremlin's sabotage and to force it to show its hand, the U. S. has proposed that a "final offer" be presented.

But the British and other allies object to this on the ground it is too provocative. Instead, they are advocating an indirect and less forceful compromise.

They propose that Ambassador Dean submit a report to the UN on the persistent refusal of the Reds to accept the UN's formula for a conference. This report would then be taken up by the General Assembly to determine the next move; whether the Reds should be condemned, or a new effort made to persuade them to hold a Korean peace parley.

The U. S. still has this compromise "under consideration." But Secretary of State Dulles vigorously favors the "final offer" strategy. He contends that only drastic action will induce the Communists to end their obstructionism on the conference.

International Stabilization Fund To Make Currencies Convertible Is Needed

Convertibility

Los Angeles — It used to be that a pound was stabilized at $4.86; a franc, 19 cents; a yen, 50 cents; a ruble, 50 cents and so on around the world. Money could be converted freely into any kind of currency, if you had the money and wanted the other kind. Therefore moved from one country to another, paying customs duties in such places as imposed it.

Then, during and after World War II, many monies went bad and their value became uncertain. It is true that speculators played exchange, or arbitrage, as it was called, and some made fortunes, but trade generally suffers from bad money because when one places an order in a foreign country, he can never be sure what it will cost him in his own money and if he can get paid.

When a currency goes down, a government usually blocks it, by which is meant that it refuses to allow it to leave the country. The reason is that the more of it that goes out, the cheaper it gets on international markets. So the man who earns money in a foreign country is asked to spend it there. He is permitted to export a product but not cash. He can bring in American dollars, but he cannot take out any American dollars or local currencies.

Just before World War II, I knew of an American company that exported a steel product to Germany. It got paid in marks but could not take the marks out of Germany or convert those marks into American dollars. So this company went into the business of exporting Hartz Mountain canaries to the United States. Those canaries were then sold to American department stores and pet shops and in that way the American company got paid for its product.

The American motion picture industry has to do that nowadays. They sell American-made pictures all over the world, but in some countries, they cannot take their money out. So they make pictures in those countries, employing local help, which means that a lot of American artists and workers in Hollywood are out of work. Some of those pictures are shown in this country, if possible.

There is always a great excitement about cutting down tariffs in the United States to get trade moving, but that is only one of the impediments to a free market.

A greater one is the inability freely to convert one currency into another.

During the next few years, we will be hearing about convertibility because that is now being discussed, somewhat quietly, among nations. The politicians are afraid of it because it is a deflationary movement in an inflationary period as any tendency to stabilize money is.

Also, as the gold standard has generally been abandoned, no common denominator exists except the American dollar, which is based on nothing but confidence. In two countries, Switzerland and Canada, the American dollar has been depreciated. It would be very difficult to put all currencies on a gold standard, because most countries do not have the American dollars to buy gold.

What is proposed is that an International Stabilization Fund be established upon which the currencies of those countries that would join the fund would be made convertible. I have heard it discussed that the United States put up somewhere between two and five billion dollars, other countries putting up smaller amounts as their ability would permit.

It is this Stabilization Fund that frightens our politicians because it will annoy our people.

Although we have become accustomed to talking in billions and putting up billions for this and that, money is such a complicated subject and its workings are so little understood that it is generally expected that the people who would resist the proposal.

Actually, anything that is done to make currencies convertible and stable is a move in the right direction. As long as the world is full of bad money, prices must be abnormally high and international trade out of balance. The United States has been making up other countries' deficits by exporting five and seven billion dollars a year since the end of World War II in the form of ECA, European Military Aid and Point Four because of the economic dislocations arising from bad money. An International Stabilization Fund, making currencies convertible, might help to reduce our contributions to other countries.

On Broadway

Man Playing the Typewriter

Columist Robert Ruark's valentine to New York (in Readier's Digest) has an impressive sincerity . . . His eloquence details the process of disillusion which led to his self-imposed exile . . . This is New Yorker respects Mr. Ruark's opinions but disagrees with his severe appraisal . . . "I was getting neurotic about New York" he says, "nobody I knew was happy in the city any more. Nobody smiled."

His personal world was possibly bounded by despair. But the borders of the city extend beyond the boundaries of one man's life. Obviously, Ruark was not attuned to the soft melody of laughing children in parks—or the Saturday night revelry of teenagers enjoying a movie and an ice-cream soda . . . He probably rarely visited the homes of the many where families enjoy each other, New York is not ruled by a single emotion, of course. The joyous and saddening pageant of life is as evident in Our Town as elsewhere. But to contend that happiness is a stranger here is to say New York is barren of life.

"There is no place," says Ruark, "so beautiful as East Africa. Its trees and flowers and mountains and animals are lovely and its peace is sublime."

The grandeur one man finds in the extensive vistas of mountains

—another discover in the towering spires of skyscrapers. The visual delight represented by flowers does not nullify the radiance of Broadway's electrifiers . . . The solitude of the woods is duplicated in The Big City at dawn when every sound is hushed and life is a waltz . . . The tranquility that eluded Ruark in The City—Bernard Baruch finds on a park bench . . . Trees also grow in Brooklyn.

"There is," he notes, "an acute and quiet consciousness of God in the African bush, which is largely obscured in the hustle of man-made cities. You cannot see an elephant standing in an acacia grove or an impala leaping high in the bright sunlight against the cool grass without becoming reverent."

The consciousness of God has no geographic limitations. It is a spiritual concept people everywhere experience within their hearts.

Juvenile delinquency. Safe driving. The dogs evil. Corruption in government. Crime. Communism. Cancer. Heart sickness. Polio. Every day there is something that begs us to come in and fight the fight for humanity and to win a victory for humanity in our limited way.</p

Contractors, Union Officials Confer With YMCA Board Of Directors On Work Stoppage

(Continued from page one) four or six men by asking $62.50 reinstatement instead of $442 and said others could "come in" for $20.

"I've done my share to smooth things over," Paul continued. He explained that laborers walked off before the picket was assigned. "We didn't chase them off," he commented.

Paul added he contacted International headquarters and was told to negotiate with Cleveland's men or picket. "We are willing to sign all of Cleveland's men today," the union agent declared.

Cleveland jumped into the conversation saying he believed his men were being picked as "the goats" because there were only two other union shops in the county. Paul returned by saying Cleveland's men were not fully informed because there are more than two union shops.

Then Cleveland related how he asked his men to send a representative to yesterday's meeting and they agreed. "But this morning they went to the A & P to work and a plumber's truck came up and told the manager if he let our men work he would put a picket on the place."

Cleveland said the job required two hours work and when the men returned to his shop one said, "If this is the peaty stuff, I don't want to attend any meeting."

Paul said he wasn't aware anything like that happened and that possibly a union man had made the challenge on his own.

Williams asked if the current problem between the union and Cleveland's men was dissolved "would the picket be taken off the job?" and Paul said he would.

Francis Lyons, business agent for the electricians union, with headquarters in Easton, was next to point out his position. He said his union was willing to sign Kime's men if they could pass a practical electrical test, then added "but he (Kime) doesn't care to discuss it."

Ed Rahn, employee of Kime, told the group he understood the wage scale was $3.25 an hour and doubted that this territory could support such a "tremendous" wage scale. "I now work 48 hours a week and under the union I would be allowed to work only 40 hours," Rahn said. "That would make a considerable hole in my pay. I can't see how I can come out but I'm willing to talk."

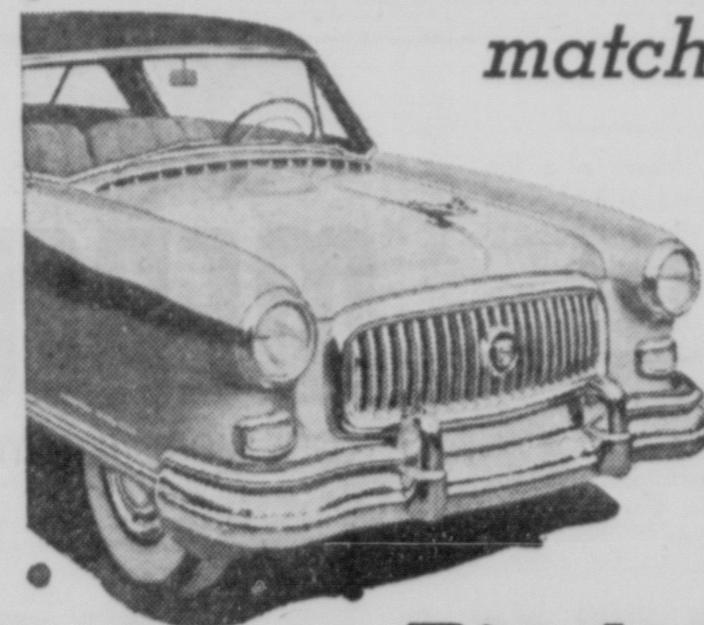

Lyon said there was no guarantee how many hours a man would work in a year and told Rahn it was a gamble. Rahn added, "I'm not a gambling man."

Returning to the discussion Paul asked why local contractors can't make money on local jobs when out-of-area concerns come here with their equipment and make money. He told the group his union went out-of-their-way with the contractors to have a $2.20 scale for jobs up to $5,000 and $2.90 an hour for larger contracts.

Men Injured In Accident At Mellhaney

Mellhaney — The oft-described hazardous intersection of Routes 115 and 209 claimed another accident early yesterday, this one doing about $200 damage to Chestnut Hill Inn and resulted in injuries to two men whose car was demolished.

State police of Brodheadsville listed the driver as Michael Ondek Jr., 31, of Carey told police he prepared to stop at the intersection sign at 4:40 a.m. when a south-bound truck's lights blinded him. Carey said he pulled to the right side of the road, then skidded on snow, crossed the intersection and crashed into the restaurant.

Windows and siding of the frame building were damaged in the crash. Dr. Thomas J. Williams, of Gilbert, treated both men at the scene and gave further treatment in his office.

Carey suffered a possible broken right wrist and facial cuts. Ondek who hitch-hiked a ride with Carey, was treated for cuts of the lower left leg. Carey's 1937-model car was reported a total loss.

Open House At School

Echo Lake — Middle Smithfield parents and teachers will observe National Education Week tonight at 7:30 with an "open house."

The meeting — designed to better acquaint parents with the working of the township school — will begin in the school auditorium with a welcome from Principal Joseph Kulick.

Following a brief PTA business meeting, parents will go to rooms to which their children are normally assigned, Kulick said.

The girls chorus will entertain at 8:20. A film sponsored by the Student Government organization will be shown at 8:45. Refreshments will be served.

Seven Directors Elected By Club

Directors who were elected by the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club in addition to those mentioned in yesterday's story of the meeting are Elwood Hintze, E. H. Laeser, J. H. Stoner and H. L. Sutton. The other directors chosen were Dr. H. C. Cryder, J. B. Dunkelberger and H. G. Tucker.

Mail Carriers To Cooperate In 'March'

Earl Brock, of Mount Pocono, will be co-chairman in the "Letter Carriers' March for Muscular Dystrophy," serving with U. S. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, honorary national chairman of the "March."

Mr. Brock is one of 100,000 letter carriers across the United States who will call on every American home the day after Thanksgiving to collect funds to help victims of muscular dystrophy, a fatal disease affecting hundreds of thousands in the U. S., most of them children.

Hundreds of branches of the National Association of Letter Carriers (NALC) have responded to the organization's president, William C. Doherty, who has urged all members to cooperate in the "March."

Bills in the amount of $4,608.40 were approved for payment. Financial report showed a balance on hand of $31,368.38 with sinking funds totaling $5,295.84.

19 Directors To Be Named By C Of C

David H. Learn, president of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce announced last night that the 27th annual meeting will be held next Monday at 12:15 p.m. at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

It will be in the form of a Dutch treat luncheon. Mr. Learn stated that invitations have gone out to all members and friends of the chamber to attend.

One of the features will be the election of 19 directors to serve for the ensuing two years. A report will be submitted by the Nominating Committee, of which John B. Dunleiberg is chairman, and then opportunity will be given for additional nominations to be made from the floor.

After the annual meeting, the new Board of Directors will convene and elect officers for the coming year.

Other features of the annual meeting will be a report on the accomplishments of the Chamber during the year closing, by President Learn; a complete financial report by Frank B. Michaels, treasurer, and a program will be outlined for future activities of the Chamber.

An opportunity will be given all who attend to offer criticisms and suggestions for the future program of the organization.

It is understood that the Chamber has had one of its most successful years as far as the industrial conditions of the county is concerned. A complete report will be made on the Industrial Committee's work for the year by Sen. Montgomery F. Crowley.

Mr. Learn said the Chamber has had its busiest year insofar as the distribution of resort literature and advertising and publicity material is concerned.

Math Session To Be Held At College

The third annual mathematics education conference scheduled for Saturday at the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will headline two authorities in mathematics education, it was announced by Jonas T. May, head of the department of mathematics and chairman of the conference.

Charles C. Miller, chairman of the department of mathematics of the Souderton High School, will speak at 10 a.m. on "Demonstrations and Suggestions for Achieving the Program in Mathematics". Mr. Miller, president of the Montgomery County Mathematics Teachers Organization, served on the state committee for Bulletin 269—A Course of Study in Mathematics for Secondary Schools.

Holmes S. Gangewer, manager of the Allentown Office of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, will speak at 2 p.m. on "Practical Mathematics for the Citizen of Today". After his address, he will

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Tyue and family visited relatives on Sunday in Mt. Pocono.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE between these two boys? From a casual glance at the photograph it would be easy to guess a few of these details: Five feet in height; 100-odd pounds of weight; 13 years in age; a world in outlook. But there is another—more important—difference between 18-year-old Russ Bachman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bachman, 1120 Greenway Ave., and five-year-old Bruce Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Greene, 1827 W. Main St. Russ is a senior in Stroudsburg High School; Bruce is a kindergarten pupil at Morey school. Besides the mass of information collected during the 13-year period of formal education, Russ represents an approximate $2,800 expenditure on the part of his community in providing his education. That's the amount Stroudsburg Superintendent Earl F. Groner estimates it costs the borough to send an average child through the entire public school system locally. The estimate was worked out this week—and the above photo was arranged—by Principal Alfred W. Munson to give the public an idea of financial requirements for educating their children. Illustration is part of local school's observance of National Education Week.

Adventists Plan Annual Observance

Members of the Stroudsburg Seventh-day Adventist Church tomorrow will enter into the most solemn annual observance of the denomination, the Week of Prayer and Devotion. They will join more than 10,000 other congregations around the world in the traditional event.

The week begins with the Sabbath worship services Saturday at 11 a.m. as messages from denominational leaders are read by William Bornstein, the church pastor.

Members will gather at the church for a similar program each night during the following week. The reading of inspirational messages will be followed by a special prayer service.

All through the week the members will follow a schedule of frugal living and will give a sacrificial offering on the following Saturday. The offering will be used for the extension of Christian work around the world and prayers will be offered for the divine guidance of nations and for the advancement of church activity.

Local members will hear of the rapid progress in missions activities. Reports from the world leaders will indicate that Adventists now sponsor an even 2,000 foreign missionaries, a higher number than any other Protestant denomination and follow a foreign missions budget for $1 million dollars, also higher than any other denomination.

Pastor Bornstein will preside at the service. Sabbath School will be held at 9:30 a.m.

The snow storm of Friday caused postponement of the meeting of the Berean Class of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School scheduled for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Marsh, of Saylorsburg. Plans were made to hold the meeting the following night, but due to hazardous road conditions, this too was postponed. On Sunday Mrs. Joseph Starner, president, stated that a meeting may be arranged for soon.

St. John's Lutheran Sunday School started preparations early for the Christmas season. On

New Sentence Imposed On Jail Inmate

Charles E. Martz, who is serving a nine-month sentence in Monroe County Jail, yesterday was sentenced to a year and a day in prison on Federal charges of forgery.

Martz bought a car in Stroudsburg and issued a bad check as payment, court records show. His term of sentence in the county jail does not expire until January, 1954.

Yesterday, Martz was taken to Federal court in Scranton by Sheriff Jacob F. Altenrose. Martz had pleaded guilty earlier to charges that he took pension checks from the mail in Williamsport, Pa., and forged signatures in order to cash them, the sheriff said.

Yesterday's appearance before Judge John W. Murphy was for sentencing. Martz was returned here to complete his jail term.

Students To Take Tests

Drexel Institute tests will be given to East Stroudsburg High School students Thursday, Nov. 19 as part of the school's guidance program.

Five individual tests will be administered, according to the office of Principal Ralph O. Burrows. Tests are California Mental Maturity, Cooperative English, American Council on Education Psychological Examination, Kuder Preference Record and Bell Adjustment.

Results of the tests help school officials set up a pattern of inter-

Making Trip Pay For Itself Revealed To Dutch Treaters

You may not think you can afford a vacation abroad—but if you stay long enough, it'll pay for itself.

This remarkable contention was put forth last night to Dutch Treaters by Esquire magazine travel editor Richard Joseph.

Speaking at a regular Dutch

Treat dinner meeting in the Penn-

Stroud Hotel, Joseph told local residents the only way to see

Europe and other foreign countries is to "move slowly, take you time and take advantage of lower hotel rates" in so doing.

An even better method of making the trip help foot the bill for itself, the editor said, would be to take up "residence" in some nations for several months.

It would be possible, Joseph continued, for one couple to live on the Spanish mainland or on the island of Majorca for $150 per month." Living on the Canary Island, he said, would cost only $125 per month—including lodging, food bills, a servant and transportation in and around the home.

Another advantage for tourists,

Joseph said, would be to travel

during the "off" season months—estimates for students and indicate appetites in various trade and professional positions.

'Follies Of '53' Pleases Crowd With Music, Skits, Choruses; To Be Repeated

They liked it. The first-night audience at the "Follies of '53" found plenty to applaud and to laugh at in the skits, songs and dances which marked the YMCA benefit show sponsored by the Junior Women's Club at Stroudsburg High School auditorium.

"They were amazed at the number—and proficiency—of the 'Gentlemen of the Chorus,'" broke into spontaneous applause at the high-stepping Rockettes, and fancy-pants Can-Can routine. Show-stopper was Edna Shook's "A Good Man is Hard to Find," and from their applause they would like to have heard more of Ann George and the waltz chorus; Jean and Bob Wolbert; Bob Altemose and Beulah McConnell; and little Betsy Park.

Highlights in the skit department were presented by Ted Hoffman and Shirley Cummings in "Silly Questions;" Lew Tyreman as "Dangerous Dan McGrew" and James Sheeley and Ruth Walz as "A Couple of Swells."

Climax of the second act was the revelation identity of the Sultan, chosen from candidates from eight of the men's service clubs of the community. George Mackey of the Eagles, whose contributions to their welfare fund won him the honor of Sultan, was spirited from the audience, arrayed in brilliant oriental splendor and revealed by a bevy of harem "wives."

The spectacular aspects of the Follies centered around the "big" numbers: "On That Great Come and Get It Day" featuring Shirley Kubik as soloist and a large chorus; "Ballin' the Jack" with C. M. Bruch as dance soloist in a 20's routine and the Community Chorus under the direction of Dr. Earl Wilhoite, which sang two numbers: "You've Got to be a Football Hero," and a Waring arrangement of "God Bless America."

Audrey Wilkins and Betty Jane Green in their series of between-the-acts patter routines brought down the house; and the eternal triangle from three aspects featured excellent performances by John Green, Joe McCluskey and Phyllis Ellsweig in "Drop Dat Gat;" Parker and Nick Nicholson in an English "Eh, What?" and John Meunier, Allan Keiper, Caroline Lapinsky and Betsy Gaunt, in the French "Oo-la-la."

One of the most elaborate of the skits was the professional performance presented by John Watt and Diana Shanley in "You Think You're Psycho." Mary Claire Coleman, Bob Wolbert and Alberta Yuta starred in vocal solo numbers.

Elaborate programs, featuring pictures of the committees from the Junior Woman's Club responsible for the show, and the music of Tommy Cullen and his orchestra distinguished the "Follies of '53" which will be given again tonight at 8:15.

All members of the Junior Woman's Clubs have been asked to turn in the money from their tickets by tonight's performance.

Alex Bensinger served as master of ceremonies last night and presented the director, Wendell Wold, of the Jerome H. Cargill Production Co.

Just Between Us
—By Bobby Westbrook

More funny things happen backstage at a production like the "Follies" than ever appear on the stage. But the funniest thing I heard about was what happened at the school board meeting. The second Thursday is their regular meeting night, and they were meeting in solemn conclave assembled.

Well, maybe not as solemn as all that, because somewhere along in their meeting there was a burst of laughter. And as the sound floated out into the hall, an indignant Junior Woman appeared, shushed them frantically and closed the door.

After a moment of stunned silence, they really did laugh. Well, it's their school building, all right, but they believe in operating it for the public welfare.

Mrs. Lester Katz, president was in charge of the meeting, and Mrs. B. Richards and Mrs. R. MacMahon reported on matters of interest to members from the Monroe County Council of Parents and Teachers which they attended as representatives of the Co-op.

James Bradshaw Gives Party For Congregation

A surprise birthday party was given James Bradshaw in honor of the birthdays of members of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Minisink Hills, after church services on November 8.

While the party was in honor of all the members, Mrs. Clarence Fredmore and James Bradshaw shared honors for having the nearest birthdays which they both marked on November 5. Mr. Bradshaw sponsored the party and served soda, cookies and candy souvenirs to the 48 people present. Bill Nelson served as soda-opener.

To Watch For Son On TV

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Knob, of Pocono Park, will be watching their TV set on Saturday afternoon when Michigan and Michigan State play football. Their son Edward plays the saxophone with the famous University of Michigan Marching Band which performs before and at halftime of the game.

Edward is also first bassoonist with the Ann Arbor Symphony Orchestra and the University of Michigan Symphonic Band.

When you use salted nut meats in a candy recipe, be sure to cut down or omit the amount of salt called for among the ingredients.

Gardens Yield Last Blooms For Hospital

The last garden flowers of the season from local gardens were combined with pine for the tray bouquets placed at the General Hospital by the Hospital committee of the Monroe County Garden Club.

The flowers were mums from the gardens of Mrs. Millard Rice, Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman and Mrs. A. H. Matheson. The blue spruce and fir were donated by Mrs. W. R. Erickson, white pine and arborvitae from Mrs. Elwood Grant.

There were 95 trays in addition to trays for the hospitality shop, the entrance desk and Gray Ladies and the nurses' dining room, making a total of 113.

Mrs. W. R. Erickson, chairman of the committee, was assisted by Mrs. Matheson, Mrs. John Teisher, Mrs. Paul Fetherman, Mrs. Lee Crossdale.

Press Auxiliary Plans Christmas For Club, Others

The Ladies Auxiliary, No. 121, Stroudsburg Printing Pressmen's Union, contributed to a welfare fund at their meeting on Tuesday night at the CLU Club, and planned for their own Christmas party.

Mrs. Jean Andress collected the funds which will be given to Miss Charlotte Shupp, R. N., for use in her work around the country.

The Christmas meeting of the auxiliary will be held December 8 at Gap View Inn. Members will bring secret pal gifts for exchange as well as a gift for the grab bag. At that time officers will be nominated for the coming year. Mrs. Ruth Cooke won the good and welfare prize at the meeting.

Mrs. Dorothy Andress presided at the meeting when Mrs. Evelyn Slutter reported on labor activities; Mrs. Jean Andress on the sick.

Plans were made for a bake sale to be held February 13. The spaghetti supper, originally planned for November 21, has been postponed until a later date.

It was announced that at future meetings Mrs. Sonia James would present material of interest to women which is used at women's club meetings throughout the country. Mrs. Jean Alberts showed slides of the activities of the local Childrens Aid Society. Mrs. Edna Topfer started classes in handcraft.

Following the meeting refreshments were served from a table decorated with turkeys and Fall foliage by Mrs. Sarah Lambert, Mrs. Anna Schaller and Mrs. Evelyn Slutter.

Salem Guild Entertains At Shupp Home

Gilbert—The Woman's Guild of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church met recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Shupp with the president, Mrs. Howard Gehris in charge. Beulah Gregory, assisted by Pauline Frable, Gloria Kreger and Rosa Shupp led the worship service "Spiritual Resources for the Family."

Roll call was answered with the name of a mission station. Reports were given by Kathryn Snyder, secretary; Marijane Everett, treasurer; Stella Kreger, education; and Violet Gurskey on the Thank Offering service to be held November 22 at the 10:30 a.m. church service.

Kathryn Snyder reported on the Regional Guild Workshop at Palmerston, and the group voted to return missionaries at Lancaster. The guild is also taking orders for Christmas candy. Mrs. Snyder read a Thanksgiving poem. Refreshments were served to the 21 members and 2 guests present. Mrs. George Dodd, Mrs. Ann Shafer and Mrs. Marquerite Schultz were hostesses.

The ones I felt sorry for were the committee chairmen who were responsible for the whole thing, and were getting none of the glory of the footlights, nor the relaxed laughter of the audience but were kept busy in the corridors packing up programs for tomorrow night, hunting up tickets, digging into make-up kits and searching frantically for strayed bits of costumes.

Never mind, tomorrow night they can start counting the profits, and rest on their laurels.
